THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1980

BELLE GLADE — PAHOKEE, FL.

RATED ONE of the four top bands at the 1980 Mardi Gras held in New Orleans, the Pahokee High School Band returned Wednesday afternoon to a crowd of approximately 200 fans, including West Area School Superintendent Jack Redding, former principal of Pahokee, and Mrs. Doris Lane, principal of the local high

if feasible Pahokee to run marina

By AILSA DEWING

PAHOKEE — City Commissioners have decided to take over the operation of the marina "providing it is financially feasible."

Meeting in special session Tuesday night, commissioners voted to assume operation of the city's marina without spelling out details of how it will be accomplished. Their action, however, clears the channel for applying for county funds estimated at around $20,000 to provide floating docks.

The floating docks hopefully would alleviate one of the problems the marina is suffering as a result of raising the lake level, by providing safer dockage for the private boats moored there.

In order to qualify for the county funds the marina must be under the city's control. Last month the city terminated its lease with Charles Jernigan as marina operator on the grounds that Jernigan had defaulted on monthly payments.

Jernigan maintains that revenue from the facility has dropped off because the breakwater is not high enough to cope with problems created by the higher lake level. He is currently operating the marina under a new agreement with the city until the lease term expires in May.

Although county funding, if approved, would not be available until summer, Mayor Duncan Padgett has advised council that the application needs to be submitted as soon as possible for the county's consideration.

Meanwhile, commissioners are looking toward long-range relief from the marina's troubles in the promise of the U.S. Corps of Engineers that a detailed study of the Pahokee harbor will be made sometime this year when it will consider improvements to the breakwater.

This word is contained in a letter from Col. James W. R. Adams, USCE district engineer to Sen. Lawton Chiles and forwarded to Mayor Padgett last month.

Adams letter states, "As you know, we have completed a favorable reconnaissance study of improving Pahokee Harbor under a Section 107 small navigation projects program. When the detailed study can be started (next fiscal year at the earliest), we shall consider not only channel deepening but improvements to the Pahokee breakwater."

Adams' letter goes on to say that "...we cannot speculate on the results of the detailed study and, regardless, this would not be a short-term help for any existing problems."

The mayor estimated at Tuesday night's session that "we need to raise the breakwater six feet."

Jernigan, who attended the special session told commissioners that if the marina were operated on a percentage basis both the city and the operator could make money. He told commissioners that monthly operating costs total $1,483.

In addition, the city is still paying off the cost of building the now inadequate breakwater at the rate of $5,000 a month on money borrowed from the state in 1956.

Fish to fry for ARC building fund

BELLE GLADE — Fish 'N Fixin's are being offered to the public from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Mar. 2 at the Belle Glade marina as part of the overall fund-raising drive to help put Glades Area Association (GAARC) into a new home.

The fish fry is a four-way joint effort by the Lake Okeechobee Bass Masters, who are providing the fish and manpower, the Belle Glade Citizens, who are providing the fixin's and manpower, the Police Auxiliary, providing more manpower, and Mu Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, whose members will be selling cake and pie for dessert.

GAARC Director Tricia Blash said an effort is being made to have everything donated so 100 per cent of the proceeds from ticket sales will go towards the building fund, which has just passed the $5,200 mark towards the $40,000 goal.

Mrs. Blash said posters to advertise the event are being prepared by students at Pahokee High School.

Bass Masters Secretary Robert Allen said the fixin's will include hush puppies, corn on the cob, cole slaw and a beverage, either coffee or iced tea. The price for tickets is set at $4 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

Dr. Allen said the fish being provided will be large mouth bass and speckled perch, with catfish in reserve should the other fish run out.

Mrs. Blash said this is only one of several fund-raising events designed to add to the building fund. Other events already completed include a pancake breakfast by the Kiwanis Club and a wedding gown fashion show.

Jody's Restaurant in South Bay is also planning a barbecue for 11 a.m. - 11 p.m. March 7-8 and students at Glades Central are making posters to advertise that event.

Mrs. Blash said the deadline for raising $40,000 for the down payment and roof repairs needed on the old St. Peters Lutheran Church and School buildings on West Canal Street North is March 10.

She said members of the board of directors are also attempting to get donations from local industries and the possibilities of getting grants in aid are also being explored.

IRS VITA offices to help with tax returns

The Internal Revenue Service announced this week that seven centers are or will be opened in the Glades area to help taxpayers with their tax returns.

The centers, spread through the Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee areas, will be manned by volunteers who have been trained by the Internal Revenue Service under a program called Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA).

Charles O. DeWitt, IRS director for Florida, said the volunteers have received training in basic income tax returns, with primary emphasis on the shorter Form 1040A; the earned income credit, simple Form 1040 and the credit for the elderly.

"The VITA program is available to persons whose tax situations are relatively simple," DeWitt said. "Persons who want their tax returns prepared should bring with them any information necessary for completing their forms, including W-2 Forms and other statements of income and deductions. Taxpayers should also bring along their tax forms received in the mail earlier this year."

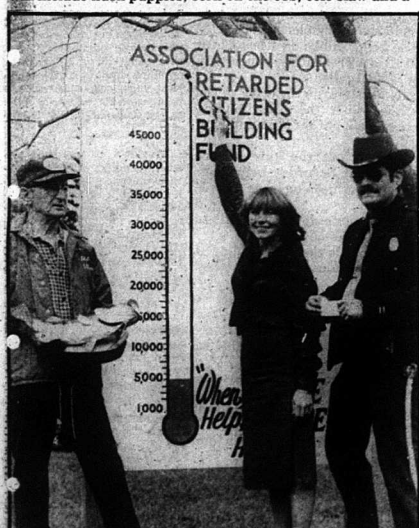

The VITA service is free and the IRS is expecting more than 50,000 Floridians to benefit from the program statewide.

In the Glades, the centers are located at:

VICTIM OF A STORM, this cabin cruiser's hull was battered by winds and waves while docked at the Pahokee marina. It's not unusual for boat lines to give way during a storm, says marina operator Charles Jernigan "and then it's like a wild horse among the boats."

BACKTALK

With both the city of Belle Glade and South Bay deciding to crack down on junked autos or rubbish accumulating in resident's yards, Backtalk decided this week to ask residents how they feel about it. So our question was "Do you think the city should have the right to clear junk off private property at the owner's expense?"

Mohamed Ali, a South Bay winter resident from Toronto, Ont. — I like to clean up my own garbage and not have somebody else do it and then pay them.

Jack Parchment, South Bay — If it's their property they have the right for it to look junky if that's what they desire.

Ken Alford, Clewiston resident who works in South Bay — It's my opinion that a person should be given a 30-day warning and then stuff should be hauled away at the owner's expense and impounded so they can claim it. It should be held for another 30 days and after that it could be sold or whatever.

Harry Chestnut, Belle Glade — Sure. Emphatically yes. If people want to clean it up, fine. If they're too damned sorry to do it themselves the city should do it.

Mary Lee, Belle Glade — No, not at the owner's expense. Some people can't afford to have it cleared away.

Letter

Dear Editor:

The most exciting aspect of a free society is the opportunity to develop our individual potential to the maximum — to become all that we choose to become. In Palm Beach County we are fortunate enough to have the educational facilities available for all who would like to better themselves, no matter what the age or socioeconomic background. Because of Palm Beach Junior College, you need only drive a short distance to take part in quality college classes, cultural and entertainment activities, instructional services for specific community problems, a choice of degree programs, and much more.

For the first time in Palm Beach Junior College's 46-year history, the college is asking for a contribution from the local taxpayers. If we approve the referendum for Palm Beach Junior College on March 11, the college will receive money for much needed capital improvements (and because of a roll back in school taxes, the average tax bill will still be less than last year's).

It's just a small investment to make, when you consider the great return! I urge the citizens to exercise their right of choice and to choose personal improvement by voting for Palm Beach Junior College on March 11.

Sincerely,

Express wins big at Mardi Gras

The fourth place award won this week in New Orleans by the Pahokee High School Band, sometimes known as the "O.D. Express" in honor of band leader Ollice Davis, should be the focal point of pride of Davis, the band, the school and the community... especially the band parents Holy smoke!

The Palm Beach County Commission wisely held off action this week which would have had an anti-smoking referendum put on the general election ballot in November.

As District Five Commissioner Bill Bailey said, there are enough regulations on private individuals and businesses that any new regulation ought to be carefully considered before being enacted.

This would fall into the classic case of providing just one more restriction on individual and business freedoms and that should be one of the prime considerations.

It's a trade-off of whose rights are going to be abrogated, the right of a person to smoke where he or she pleases versus the right of a person to breathe air uncontaminated by the smoke of others.

With the ventilation available in most public places, one would think there wouldn't be a problem, that the only time the matter should come up would be in enclosed spaces such as an airplane or a bus.

One can't ignore the increasingly militant demands of non-smokers and the fact of the matter is that many public places such as restaurants already recognize the desires of this group by providing smoking and non-smoking areas.

Another consideration is that in virtually every situation, the smoking public has the right to refrain from smoking in a public place as well as the right to not enter such places where smoking isn't allowed.

The non-smoking public has the same right and is free to exercise it by not entering restaurants or bars where smoking is allowed, in part or throughout. The business owners will get the message and, through economic interest, segregate the place into smoking and non-smoking areas, ban smoking altogether or take whatever steps are necessary to protect his or her investment... all without government interference.

The only problem areas remaining would be in places where the individual has no choice about appearing, such as in a courtroom. Most courtrooms already disallow smoking and there's no problem there.

So where is the need for another law, another restriction?

Letter to the Editor

The Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens is currently contacting organizations and businesses to ask for their pledged support in GARC's effort to purchase the St. Peter's Lutheran Church property.

In order that no possible contributor is overlooked in this campaign, the Herald-Observer is publishing a copy of the GARC solicitation letter.

The Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens has the opportunity now to acquire an asset that will provide for both near future expanded services to the community and long term Association growth. Acquisition of the St. Peter's Lutheran Church building and property in Belle Glade will fulfill these needs. This property is for sale for $140,000. Financing of the mortgage, except for the down payment, closing costs and some renovation expenses, can be handled in the conventional manner. Approximately $40,000 is needed by March 10, 1980 to meet the costs not included in the mortgage. This amount will be acquired by contributions and fund raising activities.

We solicit your assistance in achieving this special goal by a contribution. All funds collected are dedicated to the GAARC Building Fund and will not be used for other purposes. Should the property not be acquired, you will be contacted and if you desire, your contribution will be returned.

Please join us and other community members in this worthy endeavor.

Sincerely,
s/Sandra Chumblee

organization.

A high-class track record over the years by the Marching Blue Devils was the reason the band was invited to perform in two Mardi Gras parades in the first place. That track record was the direct result of long, dedicated hours of Davis and the band members.

The band's performance over the years has been a point of pride with both the school and the community as a whole, the kind of pride made evident in the successful project spearheaded by the band parents association to raise $26,000 to send the band to New Orleans.

That $26,000 was raised by individual donations and donations from area businesses and civic organizations and it wouldn't have been donated unless the community was behind the school and the band.

In return, the band put Pahokee on the map for a lot of people who saw the O.D. Express boogying in the Mid-City Krewe Sunday and the Krewe of Rex parade Tuesday, a fair exchange in anybody's thinking.

Congratulations, band members. Congratulations, Mr. Davis. Congratulations, Pahokee High and congratulations, Pahokee. You've all done yourselves proud.

Great teens

Teenagers are all too often the target of complaints, ridicule and calumny but youngsters in the Glades have recently been setting some pretty good examples, such as the band members mentioned elsewhere on this page.

Besides the O.D. Express, there were some pretty darned good exhibits in recent science fairs at local schools and there's another group of kids working in a double barrel effort to draw the community's teens together and clean up a large part of the city while they're at it.

The Junior Human Relations Committee in Belle Glade was formed in the wake of considerable violence in the city last Halloween and they'll be going public on April 12 for the first time in something called a Trashathon which they hope to tie in with the Black Gold Jubilee.

The Trashathon will work something on the order of the March of Dimes Walkathon, with the kids getting sponsors, not for the miles they walk but for the number of bags they fill with trash.

*The plans aren't complete yet but the kids will be working for about three hours that Saturday before the Jubilee gets underway and it's something area people ought to be on the lookout for.

The results of the Trashathon can only be a benefit to the city as a whole, and that's you and me.

The benefit seen right off the bat is that the city, or at least a fair portion of it, will be considerably cleaner than it'll be on April 11.

Then, there's the benefit that won't be seen quite so readily but may be even more important. These kids will be getting together to do a community service as a project and that can only build a mutual respect and aid the community as a whole.

The only unfortunate thing about it all is that the youngsters involved almost certainly had nothing to do with the violence that took place last Halloween that caused the formation of the committee.

On the other hand, they may be able to reach and influence some of those who were directly involved.

"Avarice and luxury have been the ruin of every great state."

During the Ice Age, the Sahara Desert was a rich grassland and hunting ground for prehistoric men.

I cannot tell a lie. Monday wasn't Birthington's Washday. It wasn't even Washington's Birthday... that's Friday.

What Monday was was the result of a move made several years ago by the United States Congress to guarantee themselves, federal employees and as many other employees as would go along with 'em a three-day weekend.

Don't get me wrong, now. I don't have a thing against three-day weekends. I like all the time off I can get, just like any other dedicated worker, which begs the question of what dedicated workers are dedicated to.

Newspaper types, so I learned in Journalism School, are dedicated to truth, right and the American Way... or was that Superman? Maybe it was Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. Well, some of 'em would take the pursuit of happiness if they couldn't get life or liberty.

Funny how that always came out to be the Pursuit of Women though.

Course, I always have believed that women were first, that they're smarter than men. After all, they do possess what men are seeking. Yes, dear heart, companionship!

None of which has much to do with Washington's Birthday, or holidays in general or even Congress, unless you want talk about the dedication some of our Congressmen show in pocketing a quick buck on their day off.

Which brings us down to Abscam.

Ain't it funny how, about the time the FBI pulls a group of our fearless leaders, our fearless leaders wonder out loud whether J. Edgar's proteges are using entrapment to violate the civil rights of the innocent, doncha know?

"Well, yes, I did 'take' $25,000 that night in Georgetown but they offered it to me and I figured it was right. That's entrapment, 'hen they offer it to you, ain't it? Entrapment isn't a nice thing, is it? Matter of fact, if they can entrap me, an innocent Congressman, they could entrap everybody in the United States, couldn't they, just — see if anyone's tempted?"

Sure, Congressman, and you were right there with Mr. Kelly. I guess, running your private little investigation without thinking to call in the FBI or some other law enforcement organization, much less the Senate or House Ethics Committee.

Guess it's all a matter of whose wallet is getting stung. Those cops agents oughta be spending their time going after the real criminals, like the kids down at the local high school smoking that funny weed, or that group of blacks on the sidewalk playing a game of skin.

Shouldn't be messing around with the pillars of the community, those members of Congress. Why, it's enough to give believably to Senator Phil Lewis when he said to a group of inmates at GCI Saturday night that a lot of people think legislators oughta be keeping the inmates company.

Course, nobody thought that before Abscam. Before Abscam, all American were convinced their Congressmen were fine, upstanding men and women who were literally paragons of virtue who made their life's ambition to be role models for Eagle Scouts.

Nowadays, there are at least eight Congressmen who are at least suspect in the eyes of the beholders. There might even be a few people who think some of those eighty may be guilty of using their office to line their own pockets with ill-gotten gains... as the old time novelists used to say in their dime novels.

Why, they may not even be as dedicated as we once thought they were... always assuming we once thought they were dedicated, which brings us back to where we started.

GCHS takes FBLA trophy

BELLE GLADE—For the first time ever, ten students from Glades Central High School took part in the District Eight Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) convention on Valentine's Day at Palm Beach Gardens High School and one of the local students walked away with third place in a series of competitive tests.

Vivienne Rainbow, a senior, won a third place trophy in the Accounting II competition, one of a series of tests in 18 skills which also included public speaking, typing, business law and stenography.

The one-hour test was designed to measure understanding of and skill in basic accounting procedures in sole proprietorship, partnership and corporation situations.

Business education instructor said this was the first time students from Glades Central had attended the annual convention, adding the district covers five counties and there were more than 500 students from 17 schools attending this year.

Other Glades Central students attending, and the fields they competed in, were senior Sabrina Benjamin, clerk-typist II; Cornelia Lewis, Jacqueline Barrett and Mary Duheart, all juniors competing in public speaking; Elaine Smith, Silvia Navarro and Celia Pate, all sophomores, taking part in the Accounting I test; Gloria Johnson, a junior-senior in business law and Cheryl Lawton, a junior in stenographer I.

Canal plunge claims one

BELLE GLADE—A local man died Tuesday morning when the truck he was driving plunged into the Ocean Canal from a bridge 14 miles east of town.

Dead at the scene was Ismael Alexander Thurston, 60, of 525 S.W. Ave. B Place, according to Florida Highway Patrol Troopers D. F. Hudson and J. H. Murray.

The troopers said Thurston had been driving eastbound on SR 80, and turned onto a Seminole Sugar Co. bridge. His truck drove off the bridge into the canal.

Hudson and Murray said Jessie Hughes of 1140 N.E. 23rd St. had been following Thurston and saw his truck disappear from the bridge. They said Hughes made an unsuccessful attempt to reach Thurston.

FFA benefits shared with Glades Central over the years

BELLE GLADE--When Sam Lovell, Glades Central vocational agriculture teacher, retired last year after 26 years of teaching in the local school, he estimated he'd taught about 1,000 boys over the years.

"A number of them are now farm owners and executives in the area," he pointed out.

As part of their vo-ag training, the men had also been active in the Belle Glade Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, not only adding to their individual expertise but sharing the benefits of their money-making enterprises with the school body.

The Aim and Purposes

The primary aim of the FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA is the development of agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship. The specific purposes for which this organization was formed are as follows:

1. To develop competent, aggressive, rural and agricultural leadership.
2. To create and nurture a love of country life.
3. To strengthen the confidence of students of vocational agriculture in themselves and their work.
4. To create more interest in the intelligent choice of agricultural occupations.
5. To encourage members in the development of individual farming programs and establishment in agricultural careers.
6. To encourage members to improve the farm home and its surroundings.
7. To participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of agriculture.
8. To develop character, train for useful citizenship and foster patriotism.
9. To participate in cooperative effort.
10. To encourage and practice thrift.
11. To encourage improvement in scholarship.
12. To provide and encourage the development of organized rural recreational activities.

We Salute the Glades Area Future Farmers of America.

Just as our fertile land provides us with a bountiful harvest, we must look to the Future Farmers of America to provide the men and women who will assume the leadership in agriculture.

Through cattle and crop sales, the FFA paid for installing the first air conditioning in the high school annex.

The chapter had purchased $10,000 worth of football uniforms over the years and underwritten $1,000 worth of insurance for the school's athletic program.

Band uniforms totaling $6,000 were supplied by the chapter, which also made a $1,000 loan to the band.

A $1,600 copying machine was donated by FFA to the school library.

Guiding the FFA's 18-member Belle Glade chapter now is Lansing Gordon, a member of the school's vo-ag faculty for the past 12 years.

Much of the club's effort these days is put into rebuilding the nursery area which was torn up during September's storm. Members are also involved in landscaping the high school campus and in repairing buildings at the school farm.

This is in addition to maintaining 59 acres of sugar cane and preparing six acres of land for growing vegetables, according to Gordon.

The FFA has had to go out of the cattle business, Gordon said, because of the high cost of purchasing stock.

Girls are contributing their share to FFA successes, Gordon said. At the sub-district contests, the chapter placed first in public speaking and third in tractor driving. The young woman public speaker went on to win third place in district competition. The chapter also entered a judging team at the South Florida Fair last month.

Pahokee FFA continues strong program

PAHOKEE--Under the first-year direction of David Taylor, Pahokee High School's vocational agriculture teacher, the Future Farmers of America chapter continues to make noteworthy progress which has marked its past.

Taylor, now in his fifteenth year of teaching and who is a former Farm and Home Association loan officer, holds a bachelors degree in agriculture and a master's degree in administration from Florida A & M.

Recapping the year's activities, Taylor points to the FFA's cattle project as one of the major accomplishments. The chapter has established a herd of Brafords, a crossbreed of Hereford and Brahman, to replace the previous cattle.

In December the chapter purchased ten cows, two heifers and a bull of the Bratford strain from which it plans to establish a new herd.

In ridding itself of the old herd, which had suffered from interbreeding, the chapter hosted the community at a barbecue Dec. 15 with FFA members doing the butchering and cooking.

Proceeds from the chapter's 45-acre sugarcane farm enabled members to purchase a new tractor and implements this year, Taylor said.

And members have planted 25 acres of string beans on an equal share basis - half the proceeds to go to the chapter and members sharing the other half.

Members meanwhile continue to distinguish themselves in other areas of the FFA program. In December, they took first place in Parliamentary Procedure and Tractor Driving events at the district competitions held in Riviera Beach, as well as a third place in Public Speaking.

Each year the chapter sends delegates to the national FFA convention and last November sent four representatives to Kansas City.

Although the chapter has two girls among its members, Taylor says there are no girls currently in the vocational classes.

"Agriculture is a good paying job with many other areas than just farming," says Taylor, a point he drives home often to the more than 60 Pahokee chapter FFA members.

The FFA Creed

I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds - achievements won by the present and past generations of agriculturists; in the promise of better days through better ways, even as the better things we now enjoy have come to us from the struggles of former years.

I believe that to live and work on a good farm, or to be engaged in other agricultural pursuit, is pleasant as well as challenging; for I know the joys and discomforts of agricultural life and hold an inborn fondness for those associations which, even in hours of discouragement, I cannot deny.

I believe in leadership from ourselves and respect from others. I believe in my own ability to work efficiently and think clearly, with such knowledge and skill as I can secure, and in the ability of progressive agriculturists to serve our own and the public interest in producing and marketing the product of our toil.

I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining; in the life abundant and enough honest wealth to help make it so -- for others as well as myself; in less need for charity and more of it when needed; in being happy myself and playing square with those whose happiness depends upon me.

I believe that rural America can and will hold true to the best traditions of our national life and that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task.

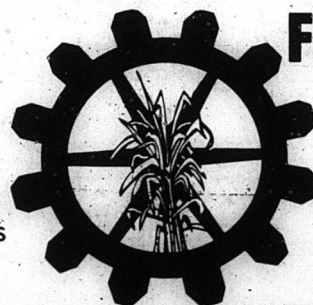

The creed was written by E.M. Tiffany, and adopted at the 3rd National Convention of the FFA. Revised at the 38th Convention.

Working with the Future Farmers of America is investing in our future.

We heartily support the aim and purpose of FFA in developing young men and women to become better citizens.

BEST C.A.F.E.

Ford has the best Corporate Average Fuel Economy of any major U.S. car maker. C.A.F.E. is the government's measure of auto companies' progress in gas mileage each year. It is an average using the EPA rating system and projected 1980 total model year car sales mix as submitted to the U.S. government in December, 1979.
Only Ford among the major U.S. companies ranks first on this basis.
Remember, C.A.F.E. is an average, so consult EPA ratings for individual car's mileage.

Track bid proves bonanza

BELLE GLADE—Area schools reaped a bonanza when a bid for resurfacing the Glades Central High School track came in low enough to allow three other paving jobs while providing a track for three area teams.

The paving job had been needed for more than a year and the track, located in the Glades Central football stadium, was in such bad shape last year, the school was unable to host a single track meet. Glades Central Athletic Director Graham Frost and girl's track coach Jay Seider began pushing last year for the paving of the track, telling members of the GCHS Athletic Council the potholes in the running surface had become so bad it was too dangerous to use any more for competition.

Little was done through that year, however, and Frost said he and Seider were afraid they would have to start all over again in December when West Area Superintendent of Education H. W. "Dick" Berryman's transfer to the coast was announced.

"When Mr. (Jack) Redding (the former principal of Pahokee High School) was appointed," Frost said, "we checked with him and through his efforts, we got it done PDQ."

Frost said Redding had been able to spring free $20,000 for the paving job, which was completed Monday but Ben Rubin entered its bid, there ... enough left over to pave the circular driveway at Glades Central Annex, tennis courts at the high school and basketball courts at Lake Shore Middle School.

Through a previous arrangement, Frost said, the track will be used by the Glades Central team and will also be used when Pahokee High School and Lake Shore Middle School hosts meets.

Frost said Coca Cola Bottling Company of Pahokee also donated a high jump landing pit, something the school has never enjoyed in the past. Frost pointed out the school has had to rely on old mattresses in meets before last year.

There was still an unmet need, however, in the form of hurdles. Frost said the old steel hurdles were worn out and he wants to replace them with aluminum hurdles, which would have the added benefit of being more portable.

He said the old hurdles were so heavy they were often left over overnight rather than taking them back to the field house. Frost said there is a need for 35 hurdles, priced at approximately $60 each.

Frost said the track still needs to be striped also in time for scheduled meets in early March.

He said the school will also host the Suncoast Conference West track tournament on April 18.

A TRACK RECORD may have been set in the speed with which the Glades Central High School track was resurfaced once the project was proposed to West Area Superintendent of Education Jack Redding. Teens to clean city

BELLE GLADE—Teenage members of a group formed in the wake of Halloween violence have agreed their first effort at community service should be a Trashathon on April 12 to clean up at least a portion of the city.

Plans weren't final Tuesday but the Junior Human Relations Council did decide on the date they would hold the Trashathon, working it in between the spring break for all three local high schools and the Black Gold Jubilee.

The youths said during their meeting at the Chamber of Commerce they wanted, if possible, to hold the Trashathon and a "Trash Bash" collection party in conjunction with the Second Annual Jubilee.

The Trashathon would work something on the order of the March of Dimes Walkathon, with the teenagers gathering pledges of support from sponsors. Instead of pledging so much money for each mile walked, however, the sponsors would be pledging so much money for each bag of trash collected during a three hour period on April 12.

Council Chairman Mitch Strickland, at the request of other members, said he would check into the possibility of holding the trash bash the afternoon of April 19 in McDonald Park, during the time the Junior Woman's Club of Belle Glade would be holding its arts and crafts sidewalk show there.

Strickland said he would ask to be put on the agenda of the Black Gold Jubilee Committee during its Friday meeting and would report back to the other committee members so plans for putting the Trashathon into operation could be formed up.

The Junior Human Relations Council is an outgrowth of a Human Relations Committee formed by several concerned citizens after a wave of rock throwing incidents on Halloween night.

The members of the junior committee represent Glades Central, Glades Day and Christian Day High Schools and Lake Shore Middle School. Each of the schools also provides a sponsor.

Members include Sherry Nelms and Lucretia Knight from Glades Central, Kimberly Abrams and Leydi Navarro from Lake Shore, Maria Escobar, Kent Davis, Roly Ramos and Carol Austin from Christian Day and Terri Sotolongo, Mitch Strickland, Nickie Barnes and Brian Lohmann from Glades Day.

The stated purpose of the council is to improve the cooperation among the people of Belle Glade through discussion and promotion of programs. Future plans include, besides the Trashathon, monthly citizen awards and, community activities for youths.

Kidney group recommended

BELLE GLADE—The Belle Glade Lions Club was urged Wednesday to form a satellite of the Palm Beach County Kidney Association to help inform and treat victims of the only disease for which aid is specifically underwritten by the federal government.

Hilena Wood, past president and director of the association, said the Palm Beach County group is the only surviving kidney association in the state, although associations were already active in Jacksonville, Orlando, Miami, Pensacola and Gainesville when the local group was formed in 1973 by Zonta-International Club of Lake Worth.

Mrs. Wood is also a member of Zonta and said the Association is an ongoing service project of the Zonta chapter.

Junk car removal sparks suit against South Bay

SOUTH BAY—The removal of several junk cars from private property by the city has resulted in a $10,000 lawsuit against the city by Wilbert Warren and Jack Davis, according to City Attorney James Gann.

Gann informed the city commission the property owners had been requested in writing to remove the junkers and the Police Department had followed the course of action prescribed by the city ordinance covering the situation.

Gann said the junk had been removed and stored and the owners had been informed they could have them back if they pay the storage fees and as long as they don't put them back where they were.

The attorney said the suit charges the police had removed the junk cars from private property without due process.

In other business, the city commission:

- Directed Gann to follow through on the process required to buy a tract of property off Northwest 12th Avenue to be used for access to several homesites. The property is now owned by Billy Rogers, who City Manager Charles Mertz said is willing to sell for a reasonable price.

- Agreed to apply for a $10,000 matching grant to be used by the city recreation department to buy a mini-bus to transport elderly people participating in a city program on outings such as picnics.

- Passed a resolution backing the formation of a separate catchment area to provide mental health care for people in the Glades area.

Commissioner Vernita Cox said, when the request was made by Community Mental Health Center Director Jean Cogar, that she was concerned that the center would provide sufficient care.

Miss Cogar said the service under the 45th Street Center has actually declined, rather than improved, since the Glades branch was opened. She said she felt the service would improve.

Roadrunners take county basketball champions hips

BELLE GLADE—The Lake Shore Middle School boys and girls teams both won county championships last week, with the boys defeating Watkins Junior High, 44-28 and the girls winning a 39-17 contest against Golfview.

Added to the football championship won earlier this year, that makes three county championships held by the local middle school, which is also the defending junior high school baseball champion.

Charles Gowers led the scoring for the male Roadrunners in the final game, scoring 14 points. He was followed by Eric Smith with 12 points, Rhondy Weston with eight points and 18 rebounds, and Clifford Lee with six points and 13 rebounds.

Lake Shore's closest game of the year was a 16-point victory and some of the more lopsided scores were 65-6 over Golfview, 60-20 over Palm Beach Public and 58-13 over Jupiter Middle School.

The Roadrunners relied on a fast break and a tight defense headed by Charles Gowers, Terry Givens and Franklin McCallum.

Rhondy Weston led the scoring for the team, averaging 13 points a game. He was followed by Eric Smith with 10 points per game. The team, coached by Guffy Westmoreland, posted its best season ever, winning all 15 games played.

Westmoreland said he expects the team to be "very competitive" again next year, returning seven players, including 6'11" Clifford Lee, an outstanding seventh grader.

The girls basketball team boasted a 10-4 record for the season, losing its first three games, then finishing with a seven-game winning streak. Golfview, the team the lady Roadrunners defeated for the championship, had defeated Lake Shore twice during the regular season.

The girls won their championship game last Thursday, the top scorer of the game was Dawn Byrd with 13 points, followed by Karen Gooden with eight, Denise Bussey with eight, Joann Hart with eight and Constance Clentscale with two.

The team was coached by first-year head coach Michael Logsdon and assistant coach John Whitaker. Whitaker was the coach of the championship football team.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY was the theme Tuesday when the Kiwanis Club of the Glades, the youngest civic club in the area, joined with the Belle Glade Rotary Club to

BELLE GLADE—The Kiwanis Club of the Glades met with the Belle Glade Rotary Club Tuesday to help the Rotarians celebrate the 75th Anniversary of Rotary International, presenting a cake for the Rotary Club's weekly luncheon meeting a resolution saluting the international and local Rotarians.

The Feb. 23 birthday of the international Rotary movement wasn't that far away from the Jan. 30 44th birthday of the local club formed in 1936. While the cake was being cut, the Kiwanians joined in with the Rotarians to sing a chorus of Happy Birthday before the meeting's program got underway.

The Kiwanian's resolution cited the fact Rotary is the oldest of the service organizations, "pioneer in the concept of community service coupled with fellowship," and cited the service club movement as having been termed, "the most distinctive contribution of North America to the Twentieth Century."

Kiwanis President Johnny Ollis read the resolution and presented the original copy to Rotary Vice President Dale Stapp.

Palm Beach Junior College President Edward Eissey provided the Rotary's main program, asking the Rotarians for their support in the half mill tax question to be placed on the March 11 presidential preference primary.

Dr. Eissey said he wasn't asking the Rotarians for any money they weren't already paying in taxes. He said the special two-year tax, if the public votes it in, will be offset by the state legislature's decision to lower school tax millage by 1.25 mills.

"You'll already be saving $1.25 in tax for every thousand dollars your home is assessed," Dr. Eissey said. "We're asking for 50 cents of that for two years for the college."

He said the money raised, expected to total $8 million over the two-year taxing period, must all be used in capital investments and repairs badly needed by the college, adding this is the first time in 47 years the college has asked for aid from the county taxpayers.

Dr. Eissey pointed out that the college trains law enforcement officers, firefighters, dental technicians and nurses for the entire area and, until a few years ago, every new dentist who wanted to practice in the state took their examinations at PBJC.

"Now," he said, "they take their exams at Gainesville because our dental chairs are too out of date." During the slide presentation, it was pointed out the college has 32 dental chairs that should be replaced and each of those chairs costs $3,000.

One by one the trees go down and the lake is taking over . . .

By AILSA DEWING

PAHOKEE—While attention is focused on the problems of the city's marina, its next door neighbor — the state recreation area — is quietly but rapidly eroding at an alarming rate.

In little more than a year, according to Lt. Tom Price, park superintendent, the shoreline has receded 20 to 30 feet and within the past three weeks two feet of lake frontage has crumbled away.

Trees, undermined by waves at the higher lake level, topple into the water and where there were once six rows of Australian pines along the shore there are now three rows in some places and none at all left in others.

Rip-rapping around permanent structures, such as the rest room and laundry facilities, placed there recently by the U.S. Corps of Engineers is proving inadequate as the water washes between the rocks and nibbles away at the land.

Ten feet out in the water are the crumbled remains of the original bulwark. The scattered cement blocks bear crudely imprinted dates, going back to the 1930s and 40s, finger-drawn when the cement was wet.

This week, high waves washed away the earth covering a portion of the encased electrical lines and forcing the park to close down eight camping sites, Price reports.

The Florida Division of Recreation and Parks leases a half-mile of lakefront on either side of the city-owned marina site. The southern section is sued for a swimming and picnicking area and the north end provides camping sites.

A site location map on the wall of the park office indicates a considerable amount of land between campsites and the water line, testimony of how things used to be. Campsites are now directly on the shoreline and others have disappeared into the water.

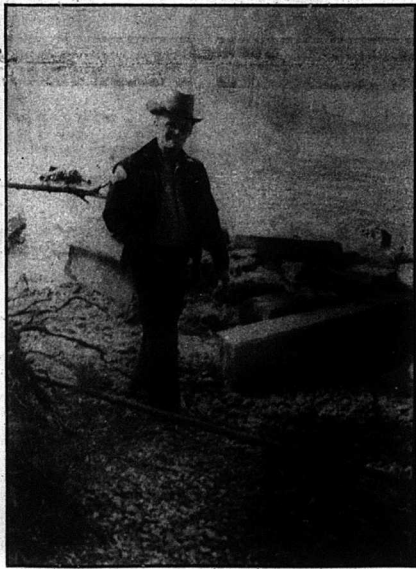

The undermined standing trees are a hazard and while Lt. Price says it hasn't yet been necessary to evacuate campers during a storm, some did move their vehicles away from the water as a precaution during last Tuesday's stormy weather.

The solution is in the hands of the state parks director Ney Landrum, who visited the Pahokee facility in December and is now conferring with the USCE.

Meanwhile, the trees are toppling, one by one, and the lake is taking over.

On a clear day it's hard to envision the fury of waves beating over the breakwater, making a sluiceway of the boardwalk, and threatening to capsize the moored boats.

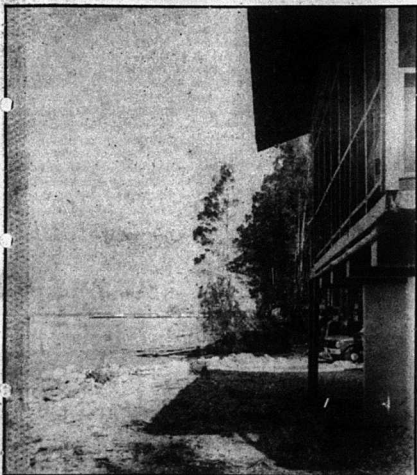

Lt. Tom Price, park superintendent, indicates the encased electrical lines that were exposed this week during Monday's storm forcing eight camping sites to be closed.

This is a scene of sylvan tragedy as tall Okeechobee, toppled by the eroding soil around their roots.

—Staff photos by Ailsa Dewing

Riprap and fill are all that stand between a restroom and laundry building and the lake, already being undermined by erosion. A year ago the lake was 20 feet offshore.

FROM THE GRAPEVINE

By BRENDA BUNTING

Glorious Day! After three weeks of suffering through temperatures that would make an Eskimo cold, we are finally getting our heater repaired. You can only imagine (I hope) the damp cold that can permeate a large building such as the one this newspaper is in.

Hopefully, the days of tennis shoes with booties inside are over. So are the jumping jacks and running-in-place over. I don't care if I freeze to death, I'm not jumping rope while taking classified ads over the phone any more. You can imagine the reaction that got from the customers when they were asked to please speak a little louder. I could hardly hear them over the flap of the rope and my own labored breathing. Then there were the disappointed people who came in saying "Gee, it's nice to get out of that cold wind," only to have them look at you kinda funny after a minute and say "Boy, it's colder in here than it is outside. See ya later."

It gets pretty bad when you've not stepped outside all day and yet your nose looks like Rudolph's and your cheeks and lips are windburnt.

Every summer, while puddles of perspiration are gathering at my feet, I flutter my hands delicately and tell people I wish winter were here, I can take the cold so much better than this terrible heat.

I promise you, I will not be saying that this year. I just know I'll be saying, "Come to Florida, the summers here are wonderful."

Congratulations to the Pahokee High School Band members who I understand did a super job at the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, and were invited to march in the Krew Rex Parade. Pahokee has a lot to be proud of in these young people.

Attention should also be focused on the Future Farmers of America this week since Feb. 18-22 is National FFA Week. In the Glades especially, I think, where we are the winter vegetable capital of the world; the FFA should be congratulated for the efforts they contribute.

Volunteers have hearts

People power. The power of the volunteers. Whatever it is called, it works, and the American Heart Association is proving it again.

This week 3,500 volunteers from throughout Palm Beach and Martin Counties will be visiting their neighbors, distributing educational material, and inviting contributions. This nationwide campaign is known as Heart Sunday week.

Mrs. Robert Hooker, Heart Sunday Chairman in Belle Glade, and her 125 volunteers are joining the campaign. "Last year, of the $108,877 raised in the two counties, $1,483 came from Belle Glade," said Mrs. Hooker.

"These dedicated volunteers can see a return for their efforts. I doubt if there is anyone who has not been touched by the effects of heart disease, either a family member or close friend. The Heart Association is working to decrease the number touched, and to make the outcome more optimistic."

In the last ten years, the number of deaths due to heart disease has begun to drop. The number one priority of the Heart Association is research, with the hope of finding more answers. In addition, educational opportunities are offered to our physicians, nurses, and paramedics, bringing them the latest information on new medical breakthroughs. The community services offered by the Palm Beach County Chapter stress prevention and cover a wide variety of areas.

According to Mrs. Hooker, "Get to know your Heart Association. It is there working for us, and welcome you Heart volunteer when she calls."

Miss Stapp in Mardi Gras

COOKEVILLE, Tenn.—Commander Dale R. Stapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stapp of 310 S.W. Ave in South Bay, participated Sunday in the Krewe of Venus parade, part of the annual Mardi Gras celebration in New Orleans.

Miss Stapp is a student at Tennessee Technological University in Cookeville and a member of the Pershing Rifles Cadet, Capers Corps, the woman's affiliate of the ROTC.

The Capers do intricate rifle drills and precision military marches and perform the raising and lowering of the flag ceremonies each day on the Tech campus.

Miss Stapp has served in several different posts and attained the rank of commander last spring. She has represented the corps at meetings held in Clemson, S.C., Petersburg, Va. and at Ft. Campbell, Ky. She has served on many committees, including the Military Ball and the Regimental Ball and has attended the annual Invitational Spring Breakfast given by Tech's president, Arliss Rardin for outstanding campus student leaders.

She is working toward a bachelor of science degree in production management.

USDA seeks AFID Aci changes

WASHINGTON — Changes in regulations governing the Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act, which would alter the reporting requirement for foreign investors, are being proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

One change would raise from five to 20 percent the amount of foreign interest in a company that constitutes "significant interest or substantial control" and make clear that a combination, means a group of individuals, or governments acting in concert. The other change would generally exempt all agricultural, forestry and timber land of less than 10 acres from reporting requirements. However, if products grown on these lands 10 acres or more yield annual gross sales of more than $1,000, the land must be reported to ASCS.

The public is invited to comment on the proposals which appeared in the Jan. 25 Federal Register. Deadline for submitting written comments is March 25.

Comments should be addressed to the administrator, USDA-ASCS, Room 218-W, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, DC 20013.

Q. In the last few weeks I have noticed a lot of weeds appearing in my lawn. What can I do?
A. During the cool season when the grass is somewhat brown the weeds are still green. They show up better and therefore look like there are more of them.

There are three basic types of weeds that occur in lawns around the state: grass weeds, broadleaf weeds and sedges.

Grass weeds usually have long narrow leaf blades and round hollow stems. Leaves alternate on either side of the stem.

Broadleaf weeds can have a variety of leaf shapes and they usually have showy flowers.

Sedges can be easily confused with grass weeds because of their long, thin leaves. However, sedges usually have solid, triangular stems and their leaves tend to radiate in three directions from the stem.

These three types of weeds will compete with your lawn for valuable space, nutrients, soil moisture, and sunlight. Weeds are also unsightly and can destroy the appearance of your lawns.

Many factors cause weeds to appear in the lawn. Some of the common problems are improper watering, mowing and fertilization. Other problems can be the soil pH, failure to choose a type of grass adapted to your growing site, and even excessive traffic on your lawn. Insects, diseases, and nematodes can result in bare areas in your lawn allowing weeds to become established.

Your first step in controlling weeds in your lawn is to correctly identify the weeds that are causing the problem. Then, try to determine what factors in your cultural care of the lawn have caused the weeds to appear. Herbicides are available to control existing weeds, but if you do not make the necessary changes in the way you care for the lawn, weeds may continue to invade it. The most effective way of controlling weeds is to have a dense, vigorously growing lawn.

For specific weed problems several factors must be considered. First, you must identify the species of turfgrass in your lawn. This is very important because herbicides can damage turfgrasses that they were not designed for. An example of this is the herbicide atrazine which can be used safely on centipede or St. Augustine grasses. If it is used on Bermuda or Bahia grasses, however, it will injure the lawn. By the same token, the herbicides DSMA or MSMA can be used on Bermuda or Zoysiagrasses, but will damage Bahia, Centipede, and St. Augustine.

After you have identified the grass, and the problem weed, you are ready to apply a herbicide. Many herbicides can control the common lawn weeds, but effectiveness on specific weed species, and their tolerances to the turfgrass species varies. Check with a reputable nurseryman or garden supply dealer for directions carefully and follow label instructions.

Baptist revival will bring O.T. speaker

BELLE GLADE—A revival featuring a professor of the Old Testament will begin Friday evening at First Baptist Church in Belle Glade and wind up Feb. 27.

MR. AND MRS. NELSON B. WILLIS, JR.

Willis-Nelms wed Feb. 9

The First Baptist Church of Belle Glade was the scene of the Feb. 9 marriage of Christina Nelms to Nelson Bond Willis, Jr.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Nelms, 802 NW 13th St., Belle Glade, was given in marriage by her father.

Mr. Willis is the son of Mrs. Marcus Patton, 1108 Wedgworth Rd., Belle Glade, and the late N.B. Willis.

The Rev. Robert Atkins officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Dolly Penual was the organist and Ronnie Blake and Miss Vicki Brantley were soloists.

Miss Valerie Cothorn of Belle Glade, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ann Young of Belle Glade and Miss Maria Tucker, Pahokee. Flower girl was Sharon Wetherington of Belle Glade, the bride's niece.

The former Miss Nelms selected a formal white gown and carried red roses and lily-of-the-valley attached to a white Bible, gift of the Baptist Church Young Women's Missionary Group.

The bridal attendants wore bouquets of pink and roses and mixed flowers. The flower girl wore a matching gown and carried a white basket of pink and red roses. Attendants wore sprays of pink baby-breath in their hair.

Billy Anderson of Belle Glade served as best man. George Patton, brother of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer.

Ushers were Bill Taylor and Matt Lewis, both of Belle Glade.

A pink and white theme was carried out for the reception held in the church social hall following the wedding.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Charles Hickman, Mrs. Jim Conway, Mrs. A. J. Harville, Mrs. Ken McDuffie, Mrs. Mario Borges, and Mrs. Steve Rice. Allen Patton distributed the rice.

Mrs. Ulva Taylor directed the wedding and Miss Abbie Nelms, sister of the bride, was program hostess. Miss Maria Duboy kept the register.

Among the guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Nelms and Mr. and Mrs. S. M. McAllister, all of Belle Glade.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Leland Nelms of Punta Gorda, Miss Mary Keesee, Ft. Myers, Miss Vicki Brantley and Ronnie Blake, both of Miami.

The Nelms are at home at 1508 NW Avenue E, following a wedding trip to Orlando.

Mrs. Nelms is a graduate of Christian Day School and is employed by Everglades Farm Equipment. Mr. Nelms graduated from Glades Central High School and is employed by A. Duda & Sons.

St. Peter's in Rome is the world's largest church, covering six acres and holding some 80,000 people.

USDA, FDA seek input on food labeling laws

Consumers have until March 20 to comment on new food labeling proposals intended to provide more information about ingredients, nutritional content and freshness.

The changes in labeling laws are being sought by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and consumer input is needed before the public hearing scheduled for March 4 and 5 by the Department of Commerce.

Labeling reforms are needed to meet the tremendous changes in food processing and distribution since the last significant legislation was passed in 1938, according to USDA and FDA spokesmen.

The proposed reforms would allow consumers more information on food ingredients.

After the public comment period ends in March, the agencies intend to propose regulations that would require:

- Labels to show specific sources of fat and oils for foods with more than 10 percent fat.
- Open date labeling for perishable and semi-perishable processed meat and poultry products such as bacon, frankfurters, sliced luncheon meats and sausage products.
- Information on the amount of sodium (salt), potassium and sugar in foods as part of nutrition labeling.
- Nutrition labeling for meat and poultry products about which nutrition claims are made or to which nutrients are added.
- Percentage labeling of significant ingredients in meat and poultry products.
- Listing of all optional ingredients in standardized foods.
- Defining the terms "low cholesterol" and "cholesterol free."
- Standardized serving sizes for meat and poultry products.

Since FDA and USDA may not have adequate authority to require some labeling changes, they intend to ask Congress for explicit authority to require all ingredients on labels of standardized foods; require identification of spices, colors and some flavors by specific names; extend the use of quantitative ingredient labeling, nutrition labeling and open date labeling to other foods; and increase agency control over food fortification.

Written comments on the proposed plan should be sent to: HEARING CLERK, FDA (HFA-305), Room 4-65, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

Comments will be accepted until March 20.

Census jobs still open

WEST PALM BEACH—More applicants for paid, temporary work as census takers are urgently needed in this area, according to Luciano Martinez, manager of the Regional Census Center.

Census takers will be assigned to their own neighborhoods whenever possible, Martinez said. Paid training is now under way, to be followed by three to five weeks of full-time work visiting homes and interviewing the residents.

Census takers must be U.S. citizens over 18 years of age. However, they may be hired at age 16 or 17 if they are high school graduates and meet certain other requirements. Also, the citizenship requirement may be waived, especially if the applicant is bilingual.

Applicants should have a home telephone and some will need a car, but neither is absolutely necessary. Mileage is paid when a personal car is used for census work.

The Census Bureau is an equal opportunity employer.

RAINFALL IN JANUARY

HIGHER THAN USUAL
BELLE GLADE—The Glades got off to a far wetter start than usual this year as more than three times as much rain fell in January as the average over the past 55 years.

According to Dr. Robert Allen at the Agricultural Research and Education Center, 6.08 inches of rain fell last month, compared to the 55 year average of 1.88.

HERALD-OBSERVER 11

Thursday, Feb. 21, 1980

This left an excess of 4.20 inches for the month and year and brought up the 56-year average to 1.96 inches. This the 56th year rainfall has been recorded for the area by the AREC.

Miss Stapp in Mardi Gras

COCKEVILLE, Tenn.—Commander Dale R. Stapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stapp of 310 S.W. Ave. in South Bay, participated Sunday in the Krewe of Venus parade, part of the annual Mardi Gras celebration in New Orleans.

Miss Stapp is a student at Tennessee Technological University in Cookeville and a member of the Pershing Rifles Cadet, Capers Corps, the woman's affiliate of the ROTC.

The Cadets do intricate rifle drills and precision military marches and perform the raising and lowering of the flag ceremonies each day on the Tech campus.

Miss Stapp has served in several different posts and attained the rank of commander last spring. She has represented the corps at meetings held in Clemson, S.C., Petersburg, Va. and at Ft. Campbell, Ky. She has served on many committees, including the Military Ball and the Regimental Ball and has attended the annual Invitational Spring Breakfast given by Tech's president, Arliss Rardin for outstanding campus student leaders.

She is working toward a bachelor of science degree in production management.

educational material, and inviting contributions. This nationwide campaign is known as Heart Sunday week.

Mrs. Robert Hooker, Heart Sunday Chairman in Belle Glade, and her 125 volunteers are joining the campaign. "Last year of the $108,877 raised in the two counties, $1,483 came from Belle Glade," said Mrs. Hooker.

"These dedicated volunteers can save a retina for their efforts. I doubt if there is anyone who has not been touched by the effects of heart disease, either a family member or close friend. The Heart Association is working to decrease the number touched, and to make the outcome more optimistic."

In the last ten years, the number of deaths due to heart disease has begun to drop. The number one priority of the Heart Association is research, with the hope of finding more answers. In addition, educational opportunities are offered to our physicians, nurses, and paramedics, bringing them the latest information on new medical breakthroughs. The community services offered by the Palm Beach County Chapter stress prevention and cover a wide variety of areas.

According to Mrs. Hooker, "Get to know your Heart Association. It is there working for us, and welcome our Heart volunteer when she calls."

USDA seeks AFID Aci changes

WASHINGTON—Changes in regulations governing the Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act, which would alter the reporting requirements for foreign investors, are being proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

One change would raise from five to 20 percent the amount of foreign interest in a company that constitutes "significant" interest or substantial control, and make clear that a combination, means a group of individuals, or government acting in concert.

The other change would generally exempt all agricultural forestry and timber land of less than 10 acres from reporting requirements. However, if products grown on these lands are used to produce annual gross sales of more than $1,000, the land must be reported to ASCS.

The public is invited to comment on the proposals which appeared in the Jan. 25 Federal Register. Deadline for submitting written comments is March 25.

Comments should be addressed to the administrator, USDA-ASCS, Room 218-W, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, DC 20013.

Q. In the last few weeks I have noticed a lot of weeds appearing in my lawn. What can I do?

A. During the cool season when the grass is somewhat brown the weeds are still green. They show up better and therefore look like there are more of them.

There are three basic types of weeds that occur in lawns around the state: grass weeds, broadleaf weeds and sedges.

Grass weeds usually have long narrow leaf blades and round hollow stems. Leave alternate on either side of the stem.

Broadleaf weeds can have a variety of leaf shapes and they usually have showy flowers.

Sedges can be easily confused with grass weeds because of their long, thin leaves. However, sedges usually have solid triangular stems and their leaves tend to radiate in three directions from the stem.

These three types of weeds will compete with your lawn for valuable space, nutrients, soil moisture, and sunlight. Weeds are also unsightly and can destroy the appearance of your lawns.

Many factors cause weeds to appear in the lawn. Some of the common problems are improper watering, mowing and fertilization. Other problems can be the soil pH, failure to choose a type of grass adapted to your growing site, and even excessive traffic on your lawn. Insects, diseases, and nematodes can result in bare areas in your lawn allowing weeds to become established.

Your first step in controlling weeds in your lawn is to correctly identify the weeds that are causing the problem. Then try to determine what factors in your cultural care of the lawn have caused the weeds to appear. Herbicides are available to control existing weeds, but if you do not make the necessary changes in the way you care for the lawn, weeds may continue to invade it. The most effective way of controlling weeds is to have a dense, vigorously growing lawn.

For specific weed problems, several factors must be considered. First, you must identify the species of turfgrass in your lawn. This is very important because herbicides can damage turfgrasses that they were not designed for. An example of this is the herbicide atrazine, which can be used safely on Centipede or St. Augustine grasses. If it is used on Bermuda or Bahia grasses, however, it will injure the lawn. By the same token, the herbicides DSMA or MSMA can be used on Bermuda or Zoysia grasses, but will damage Bahia, Centipede, and St. Augustine.

After you have identified the grass, and the problem weed, you are ready to apply a herbicide. Many herbicides can control the common lawn weeds, but effectiveness on specific weed species, and their tolerances to the turfgrass species varies. Check with a reputable nurseryman or garden supply dealer. Read directions carefully and follow label instructions.

PBJC mulls

AA in nursing

BELLE GLADE—A first year nursing program leading to an associate degree in nursing is being considered for the West Campus of Palm Beach Junior College.

Establishment of a program will depend on the response and need of the area serviced by P.B.J.C. West Campus.

Both men and women are eligible to apply regardless of marital status or age. A student, upon admission to the nursing program, must have a high school diploma from an accredited institution or a state high school equivalency diploma.

A prerequisite to the nursing program is a general chemistry course with a "C" or better. If the student has not had the course in high school, the course can be taken at P.B.J.C. Some math background is required. Beginning algebra is adequate.

There is a critical need for nurses in the Glades area, and college officials point out that nursing program graduates have had no problem being placed.

For information, call P.B.J.C. at 996-3055 or Joan Anderson at 996-3807 during the week of Feb. 25-29.

A 10-FOOT CROSS to lead a youth procession during Good Friday's interfaith observance has been built by Danny and Herbert Priest. Shown with the cross are the Rev. Frank Crum, left, assistant pastor of Belle Glade's Community United Methodist Church who is organizing the procession, and Herbert Priest.

Taking it From the Top

By REV. DAVID T. EVANS
Everglades Presbyterian Church

Next Sunday is the first Sunday in Lent. Lent is the 40 day period before Easter not counting Sundays. It is a time of preparation for the high point in the Christian Year.

The 40 day period is similar to the other periods of the same length such as the time Moses spent on Mount Sinai before receiving the Ten Commandments and the time of our Lord's temptation in the wilderness. Forty days or years is symbolic of a complete or a perfect time in the Bible. The good kings of Israel always reigned for forty years.

The Lenten period which begins with Ash Wednesday (this year Feb. 20) is the time when Christians re-evaluate their lives, ask for forgiveness and seek to begin a new life. Traditionally Lent has been a time for controlling one's desire for food and concentrating on the spiritual side of life. It is a turning away from the physical and turning toward the things of God.

During the next seven weeks Christians will be making sacrifices or abstaining from certain foods or acts to eliminate that which keeps them from a closer relationship to God and their Lord Christ. Special services will be held in the churches to increase the concentration on the repenting of evil and living a renewed and righteous life (one which is right with God).

A positive approach to Lent can be saving the money not spent on food and giving it to the One Great Hour of Sharing celebrated by many churches and denominations on Easter. This program will help those who are needing food to receive food and increase the means of producing more food.

Let's turn more unto God and away from the things of the world. Let us take more time to pray for others and less for ourselves. Perhaps we can be more like Christ and less selfish. Remember our Lord found joy in giving of Himself for us so that we might live more to righteousness and less to evil. With more good in our lives there will be less room for the selfish and evil. Pray for others and for the renewal of our souls this Lenten Season.

6th Graders—Renee Hays, Katrina Morris, Renee Miranda, Kevin York, Christine Barbosa, Amy Mobney, Teresa Johnson, and Sharon Smith.

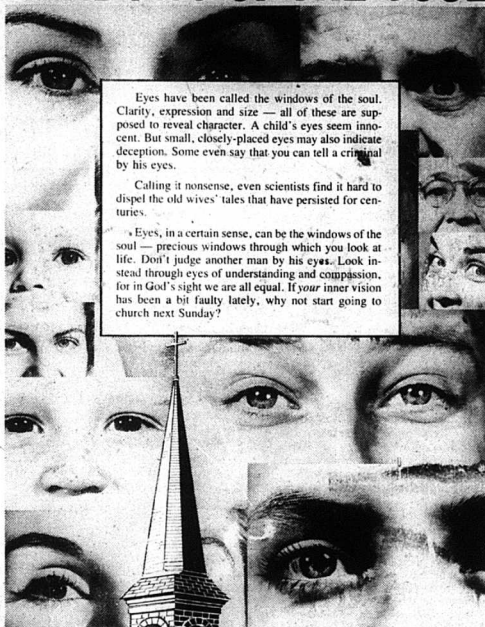

7th Graders—Tammy Patterson, Bonnie Harrell, Marion Sherrod, Stephen Butcher, Victoria Lewis, Eric Richards, Yolanda Golsen, Harold McCuller, and Major Hoskins.

Various preparations from the leaves and roots of the deadly European nightshade weed known as belladonna are used to counteract pain, spasm and opium poisoning.

Area church news

WINDOWS OF THE SOUL

Eyes have been called the windows of the soul. Clarity, expression and size — all of these are supposed to reveal character. A child's eyes seem innocent. But small, closely-placed eyes may also indicate deception. Some even say that you can tell a criminal by his eyes.

Calling it nonsense, even scientists find it hard to dispute the old wives' tales that have persisted for centuries.

Yes, in a certain sense, can be the windows of the soul — precious windows through which you look at life. Don't judge another man by his eyes. Look instead through eyes of understanding and compassion, for in God's sight we are all equal. If your inner vision has been a bit faulty lately, why not start going to church next Sunday?
